Re: Investigator Resources Ltd

To whom it may concern,

Please find attached a Form 604 notice of change of interests of substantial holder in relation to Investigator Resources Ltd.

Apologies for the delayed submission of this notification, the reason for this is outlined in detail below.

Old Mutual Global Investors (UK) Limited took part in a placing in October 2017 which took our holding across the 5-6% reporting threshold and should have been reported at that time.

The existing ordinary shares that OMGI held and the impending placement shares were identified on our systems as two different lines of stock. Our systems at the time were unable to identify these as being from the same issuing company and so we did not have forewarning of our impending increase in % ownership. Once the placement had been completed the two lines were merged in to one which our systems then reflected and showed the move across the 5-6% threshold.

Unfortunately due to human error the movement across this threshold was missed. This error has been identified from an ongoing review of our systems and processes in this area.

Old Mutual Global Investors (UK) Limited take errors such as these extremely seriously and have implemented additional controls and processes to militate against the risk of future reoccurrence. These controls include I.T. infrastructure improvements to the reports that identify moves across reporting thresholds, dual sign-off and review by a senior manager of these reports on a daily basis.

If you require any further information we would be pleased to provide this to you.

Kind regards,

John Meade
