Corporate Update

Kingston Resources Limited (Kingston or the Company) advises that it has applied to securities regulatory authorities in British Columbia and Alberta, Canada for a decision that it is not a reporting issuer. If that decision is made, Kingston will cease to be a reporting issuer in Canada and as such will not be required to file financial statements and other disclosure documents with Canadian regulatory authorities. Canadian securityholders will continue to receive all disclosure materials required under Australian securities law or ASX requirements to be delivered to Australian resident securityholders.

An order by the aforementioned securities regulatory authorities granting Kingston's application will not affect the Company's ASX listing or its reporting practices in Australia.

Kingston's status as a reporting issuer in Canada followed the November 2017 merger with TSX listed WCB Resources Limited.
