YPB takes first step into pharmaceutical industry

- Three-year supply contract with Universal Pharmaceuticals Ltd for the provision of YPB's anti-counterfeit and consumer engagement technologies
- Universal Pharmaceuticals – Australian company exporting pharmaceutical products to growing Chinese and South East Asian markets
- Reflects greater awareness of potential counterfeit issues in the Australian pharmaceutical industry and importance of brand protection

YPB Group Limited (ASX:YPB) has entered into a supply contract with Universal Pharmaceuticals, a NSW-based pharmaceutical company exporting quality pharmaceuticals to the rapidly-growing Asian market.

Under the contract YPB will provide its invisible covert tracer technology to Universal Pharmaceuticals. YPB's tracer and scanner solution will be used within the supply chain to verify the original product and detect the presence of counterfeit goods.

Universal Pharmaceuticals has undertaken to apply YPB's tracer to 1 million items during 2016, with a larger and longer term relationship expected to develop after the successful initial rollout.

In addition, YPB will provide Universal Pharmaceuticals with online authentication of its products through YPB's Connect Platform. This platform provides a deeper level of protection and directly connects Universal Pharmaceuticals with its customers in Asia, allowing it to increase brand confidence and loyalty via ongoing direct engagement with its customers.

Universal Pharmaceuticals has been manufacturing for the Australian and Asian pharmacy trade for more than 15 years. Clients in Australia include household names such as Guardian, Soul Pattinson and Amcal. Universal Pharmaceuticals brands include Wealthy Health, Goodlife Nutrition and Shelano.

Executive Chairman of YPB Group John Houston said: "Universal Pharmaceuticals is experiencing strong year-on-year growth in Asia and YPB is proud to be associated with this growth. More and more companies are realising the danger of counterfeit products, and the knock-on effect for their brands and reputations. The innovators are now taking steps to minimise that threat and widespread adoption by branded exporters will rapidly follow over the next few years. YPB technology allows brands to PROTECT, DETECT and CONNECT to end customers."

CEO of Universal Pharmaceuticals Laurence Dam said: "YPB's technology gives Universal Pharmaceuticals and our customers peace of mind that our products are authentic and therefore protects our brand. YPB's ability to connect Universal with our end customers globally is unique and cutting edge. It positions Universal Pharmaceuticals for excellent growth and customer engagement opportunities."
